THE U.S. ARMY CENTER OF MILITARY HISTORY commemorates the seventy-fifth anniversary of World War II through its historical products and participation in outreach events. We encourage all Americans to remember the selfless courage and heroism of the U.S. Army Soldiers in World War II.

Our goal is to:

- Remember the sacrifices of the more than 900,000 Soldiers dead, wounded, or captured during the fighting of World War II.
- Honor the service of more than 11 million American Soldiers who served in the Second World War.
- Educate current Soldiers and the American public about accomplishments that added to the proud history of the nation's premier fighting force.

Discover the Center of Military History's World War II seventy-fifth commemoration Web sites and download publications relating to the war at: history.army.mil
